

Jesse Miller

Jesse Miller is the CISO at Stratosphere Networks. He has been with the company for over 12 years, for a total of over 22 years in the IT services industry. In his career, he has flourished in multiple domains, including risk/compliance, IT infrastructure, service delivery, product management/development, and, of course, information security. The depth and breadth of knowledge he has acquired for such a large swathe of the technology landscape serves to give him a holistic view of the security risks each system or business process poses, in addition to how it relates to the overall security posture of an organization.

As Stratosphere's CISO, he focuses on IT security, risk and compliance for our ever-growing customer base. He holds a plethora of certifications with many different accredited registrars, and is an active member in the cybersecurity community, including SANS (SysAdmin, Audit, Network, Security), International Information System Security Certification Consortium ((ISC) 2), and Information Systems Security Association (ISSA).

Additionally, he has been instrumental in developing new products that have helped add stability, intelligence and security to our customers' environments – including Stratosphere's Office Anywhere Zero-Trust SASE framework, proactive monitoring/analytics, SOC-as-a-Service (SOCaaS), monitoring as a service (MaaS), next generation security services and products, and countless solutions for custom integrations.

Jesse also oversees our internal information security and SOC teams, who are largely responsible for ensuring that Stratosphere keeps our "first to market" pledge to our customers, deploying security technologies successfully and giving our clients a consistent and reliable advantage over their competition, while simultaneously ensuring that our clients' supply chains remain intact by protecting and securing our internal infrastructure.
